

HERMAN SINGER PLUNGES TO DEATH

HOOVER OUT FOR LENROOT FOR SENATOR

Former Food Controller Sends Statement on Wisconsin Fight

ETHNAR IN PLATFORM

Conference of Progressives
Held in Milwaukee; Open Headquarters

Robert Hoover is the latest of the outsiders being lined up to send William Lenroot to the senate. Last week Senator Lenroot gave a statement from Gifford Pinchot, director of the Wisconsin conservation movement, in which he stated that Lenroot was a "conservative" and that he was "not a conservationist."

It would like to communicate to the people of Wisconsin how strongly they feel the necessity of your re-election to the United States senate. Your progressive outlook and devotion to right issues are needed in your leadership in the congress over the next year.

It is hoped that, in the face of the present period that confronts us, Wisconsin will doubly assure your leadership. There are times when we need a leader with true forward vision, who will build surely and steadily upon what we have, and who will lead us to a better future.

Gifford Pinchot comes into Wisconsin. He may be asked to explain his statement about Senator Lenroot's "conservatism" for the cause of conservation. One of the most vital anti-conservative measures before the last two sessions of congress was the oil leasing bill. A standard oil lobby was at Washington at each session when this matter was up.

In the session ending March 4, 1919, the oil leasing bill was killed through a filibuster led by Senator La Follette. At the session last winter the bill was finally passed, but Senator Lenroot voting for it and La Follette against it.

When the oil leasing bill first came before the senate it was before the committee on public lands. Lenroot was a member of that committee. Friends of conservation approached Lenroot to urge him to make a fight against the bill. Lenroot refused to lead such a fight. It was then that La Follette took a stand.

Almost single-handed La Follette took up the fight in behalf of the conservation which Lenroot had refused to support. Gifford Pinchot was then these bitterly opposed to the bill. His secretary was placed at La Follette's disposal and Pinchot had collected a great amount of information about La Follette's campaign.

La Follette had killed the bill through the filibuster. It again came up at the next session with Pinchot supporting it. The question is: How will Gifford Pinchot claim that Lenroot is a conservationist in view of his record on the oil leasing bill?

Madison Children Sing in Song and Light Festival Tonight

—By University Photo Shop

BY ADRIAN SCOLTEN.
To these Madison children, all of whom are below 14 years of age, is entrusted the singing of the dramatic note of the Song and Light festival, the great co-operative pageant, which will be given in the University gymnasium at 8:15 tonight.

In an elaborate series of pictures in the preceding episodes of the pageant the adults show how mankind has endeavored to perfect the organization of co-operative effort.

Much of the dramatic presentation in this and in that of the opening portion of the Song and Light episode portrays the stumbling and only partially successful attempts in establishing relations of understanding between man and his environment.

Then in a new exemplification of the saying, "A little child shall lead them," with their eyes of direct vision the children penetrate the problem that perplexes the adult for their triumphant unafraid voices proclaim in simple faith:

"Through love to light!
Oh, wonderful the way
That leads from darkness to the perfect day!
From darkness and from sorrow of the night,
To morning that comes singing o'er the sea,
Through love to light! Through light, O God, to Thee.
Who art the love of love,
The eternal light of light."
Earlier in the Song and Light episode of the pageant the children sing that beautiful fanciful slumber song, "Baby's Boat's the Silver Moon." In fairyland fashion it tells of the child's having gone fishing for a dream with a moon-beam for his line and a star for his bait.

The songs the children will sing tonight display the emotional and tonal capabilities which these young singers have shown in their rehearsals. These singers have been trained by Professor Peter W. Dykema and gave their final rehearsal in the University gymnasium at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The organizing of this chorus of children's voices has been carried out by Mr. Milford Witts, assisted by the following children who acted as recruiting captains: Alice Wolfe, Virginia Gordon, Cleo Bach, Margaret Gleason, Earl Wise, Selby Mills, Otto Zerkow, Dorothy Lynch and Dorothy Herrick.

INTRA STATE RATE BOOST TO BE ASKED

Railroads Will Apply for Advances in State
Tariffs

WISCONSIN RATES
The Wisconsin railroad commission had a hearing on intra-state rates at Madison two weeks ago, hence it is probable that Wisconsin will be brought into line with the new rates about as soon as they are put into effect.

Such intra-state rate increases, it is said, will not add to the total income provided for by the federal commission's decision, because, in submitting their estimates, the carriers calculated on a basis of increases of both interstate and intrastate rates.

WASHINGTON—Readjustment of the whole rate structure of the nation's transportation systems, was started today with a view to putting into effect by Sept. 1 the freight, passenger, Pullman, excess baggage and milk rate increases authorized last Saturday by the Interstate Commerce commission.

While tariff experts are working on general rates schedules for carriers, will make application to the various state commissions for advances in intra-state rates to correspond to those in interstate rates. Requests for advances in passenger, Pullman, milk and excess baggage tariffs are expected to be the same for all states as the increases in these charges authorized by the federal commission were general for the entire country. They were 20 per cent on passenger, milk and excess baggage charges and 50 per cent on rates for sleeping and parlor car space.

In the case of freight rates, however, the carrier will ask the states to advance these tariffs to correspond with the increases granted by the federal commission for the territory in which the state is located. The interstate increases authorized are 40 per cent in eastern territory.

HANLY KILLED IN CAR CRASH

Ex-Governor of Indiana and Two Friends Hit by Train

DENISON, O.—J. Frank Hanly, former governor of Indiana and candidate for president on the prohibition ticket in 1916, and Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Baker of Kilgore, O., were killed six miles from here Sunday when a Pennsylvania freight train struck the automobile in which the party was driving to Kilgore.

All suffered fractured skulls and crushed bodies and remained unconscious until they died at a local hospital.

The Baker automobile drove across the Pennsylvania tracks back of one freight train and directly in front of another. The automobile was struck squarely.

Dr. and Mrs. Baker had met Mr. Hanly in Denison and were driving him to their home in Kilgore, 20 miles from here.

Dry's Lese Friend.

CHICAGO—The prohibition party lost one of its greatest leaders in the death yesterday of J. Frank Hanly, Virgil G. Hinshaw, chairman of the prohibition national committee, said when informed of the fatal accident.

"Mr. Hanly made his first big fight for prohibition 16 years ago when he was elected governor of Indiana on a county option platform in opposition to Thomas R. Marshall, now vice president," Mr. Hinshaw said. "Mr. Marshall was understood to be opposed to prohibition in that campaign and Hanly's victory marked one of prohibition's first great triumphs."

In the event of Russia's failure to comply, it is added, Rumania will declare a general mobilization.

WARSAW—Doubt was expressed in diplomatic circles here Sunday as to whether an agreement for an armistice would come out of the negotiations between the Polish and soviet emissaries at Baranovitchi. It was thought the soviet authorities were likely to insist upon terms too severe for the Poles to accept.

The Polish delegates carried with them into the Russian lines a portable wireless outfit which they intended to use for communication with Warsaw. Officials said this afternoon, however, that it might be days before the negotiators were heard from.

LONDON—Hot fighting along the River Naraw, in the region north-east of Warsaw, is reported in Sunday's official soviet communique received by wireless from Moscow today. A crossing of the river at one point by the bolsheviks is announced and progress against the Poles further to the southeast in the Bielsk region is claimed. The soviet cavalry also is reported pressing in northeast of Lemberg.

FULLER TO BE KNOWN AS THE PARKWAY

Chicago Architect is Here to Go Over Plans for Remodelled House

During the year 1921 the Fuller, for scores of years the name of Madison's opera house, will become the Parkway.

This scheme known today when J. E. O. Pridmore, theatrical architect came here to confer with Ralph W. Jackman regarding plans for the remodeling of the local playhouse, Mr. Jackman, the owner of the property, stated that comprehensive plans are being made for rearranging the entire house.

In addition to the fact that the house will be known as the Parkway comes the news that the famous "nigger heaven" is to become a thing of memory. The Fuller "nigger heaven" has been the perch from which many a student, many now famous throughout the country have watched famous performers at popular prices at the theater.

Mr. Jackman stated that the seating capacity of the house will be limited to the first floor and the balcony. The entire house will be so rebuilt that the increased seating capacity of the first floor and the new balcony will also take care of the present seating capacity in the second balcony.

The new plans contemplate the elimination of the two stores in front of the theater building. The offices on the second floor will be also eliminated. A large new lobby will stretch across the entire width of the new building. The wall back of the stage will also be arranged in such a way as to give more seating space. It is expected that there will be 300 more seats on the first floor.

Mr. Jackman had planned to make the improvements this year but local labor troubles will prevent this. It is now planned to make the improvements at the close of the theatrical season in 1921.

MADISON BARBER KILLED AFTER DIVE INTO QUARRY; PROBE IS ON; SEE SUICIDE

Atty. Sauthoff Appointed to Sift Evidence of Possible Foul Play; Coroner's Jury Hears
Testimony in Case

BULLETIN
Because of certain marks on the throat of Singer, which may or may not have been caused merely by the fall, Judge Hoppmann late this morning appointed former Dist. Atty. Harry Sauthoff to conduct an investigation into the tragedy in the absence of Dist. Atty. Heilmann.

The following coroner's jury was impaneled by Judge Casson this morning: Dr. Frank Smith, F. B. Hatfield, F. W. Humiston, Dudley H. Davis, Walter J. Hyland and G. L. Erdahl. The jurors viewed the body at Frautschi's this morning.

It was stated at the barber shop today that Mr. Singer has recently visited a local spiritualist who prophesied that he would soon commit suicide. This preyed on Mr. Singer's mind continually, it was said.

Plunging from the precipitous wall of an abandoned stone quarry on the Middleton road, at Sunset Point, Herman E. Singer, 36, 620 State street, well known Madison barber, met his death sometime last Friday.

The tragedy was not brought to light until 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when a group of picnickers came upon the body, bruised and lacerated, lying at the base of the 100-foot cliff.

It is the belief of the victim's friends and relatives that Singer committed suicide.

Singer, who has been conducting a barber shop for years, is well known by city residents and thousands of university students.

Co-eds Smoke? University Denies Girls Will Be Used in Nicotine Ex- periments.

Emphatic denial of the statement appearing in a Chicago paper to the effect that Wisconsin co-eds will be used in the experiment being conducted here at the university in order to ascertain the effect of tobacco on the mind, was made this afternoon by Prof. V. A. C. Henmon, head of the department of education. "There is absolutely no truth in it. Girls will not and have not been used."

"Up to the present time I know that no women students have been used in the experiment to ascertain the effects of tobacco on the mind of students," Mrs. M. V. O'Shea, wife of Prof. O'Shea, declared this afternoon in the professor's absence. "This experiment is being conducted by the United States bureau of education and is very broad in its scope."

The story stated that co-eds will be asked to smoke pipes, cigars and cigarettes.

BODY IS FOUND

A number of small boys were playing about and noticed the body of a man lying at the bottom of the quarry. They were afraid to go near it, so they ran back and told Dr. E. L. Bump, who, with his family, happened to be standing at Sunset Point. Dr. Bump notified Sheriff Julius J. Krug. Mr. Krug went out to the quarry and brought the body in to Frautschi's undertaking rooms, where it is being embalmed.

Arthur A. Frautschi, to whose undertaking establishment the body of Singer was taken, declared this afternoon that while it is difficult to tell just what caused the marks on the body, personally he believes that they were caused by the fall and are not due to finger pressure. He stated that there are similar bruises about the body and three scalp wounds on the head.

Wife Makes Statement

Mrs. Singer stated this afternoon that her husband was worried over his income tax a great deal, in spite of the fact that the authorities told him that there was nothing to worry about. He had paid his 1919 tax and was to have settled today for his 1917 and 1918 tax. Last winter he had influenza, and at times since then he has seemed somewhat despondent, but he always seemed perfectly sane, she declared.

"He had considerable trouble during the war," she said, "because he was an alien. It used to bother him a lot and maybe it still bothers him."

According to a distant relative of the dead man, Clarence A. Waldron, 834 W. Washington ave., Singer had been considerably worried for some time in regard to his federal income tax statement, which he failed to make out for several years. He left home last Friday morning and went to his barber shop at 620 State st. as usual. About 9 o'clock he left the shop and that was the last that was seen of him.

Singer is survived by his wife, who was Miss Helen Gerke, and three children, Marie, aged about 6, Geraldine 3, and Herman, Jr., about a year old. Mr. Singer's mother lives in Germany. The family resides at 215 N. Lake st.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon from the undertaking parlors at 4 o'clock, and interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery.

ASK BOOST IN RAILROAD RATE

Continued.

25 in southern and mountain-Pacific territory, and 35 in western territory. The increase on freight moving from one territory into another will be 38½-43 per cent.

In announcing that the applications for intra-state advances would be made to the state commissions, Alfred P. Thom, general counsel of the Association of Railway Executives, said these increases would not enlarge the gross income to be received by the roads under the decision of the federal commission because in presenting their case the carriers had based their estimates on corresponding intra-state rate advances.

$1,500,000,000 Total

The railway executives have not calculated the total increased revenue to be derived from the rate advances, but from their estimates presented to the commission at the public hearings the sum has been unofficially approximated at one billion and a half dollars.

Coastwise and inland steamship companies and electric railway lines are permitted under the interstate commerce commission's decision to raise only freight rates. Nothing was said by the commission as to passenger rates on the steamboat lines, but the decision did say specifically that the freight rate increase granted electric railway lines was "not to be construed as an expression of disapproval of increases, made or proposed in the regular manner, in the passenger fares of electric lines."

The surcharge of 50 per cent on sleeping and parlor car space is to accrue wholly to the railroads. This charge was opposed by the Pullman company on the ground that it would reduce the travel in cars of that type. The commission held, however, that a charge of this character "has much in its favor," as "unquestionably the service is more valuable to the passenger and more expensive to the rail carriers."

whom he had promised marriage.

"You charge me with murder," exclaimed Landru to Judge Bonin, "murders, 11 of them. I am shocked! These women have disappeared. I do not dispute the fact. They had had disagreements with their families. Let me free and I shall find them. You accuse me of having had 10 mistresses. I plead guilty. Where is the Parisian, aged 50, who has not had at least 12 mistresses? And pray, why have I committed all these abominations?
To rob my victims. Of what? They had nothing but Russian securities and their furniture was of the cheap variety. Don't pester the French public with 'the Landru case' any longer. Secure our indemnity from the Germans. That is the most momentous question."

Enjoy Your Automobile Now, and Pay While You Ride

Truly, an extraordinary plan. How often have you wished you owned a car, so that you, too, could enjoy little trips through the country, and to the nearby cities. The change of atmosphere rests the tired business man, after the day in the office, store or factory, and does wonders towards keeping the color in Mother's cheeks, after a hard day in the kitchen or laundry. And the Kiddies, enjoy it more than you can imagine.

But money has always been the obstacle—now this reason has been wiped away.

Come in and Let Us Explain

Let us tell you how you can own an automobile and pay while you are enjoying it.

This plan includes insurance for fire, and theft at a very low rate.
With this plan you own your automobile in 10 or 12 months.

"4C" COLLEGE HAS BIG YEAR

Business School Closes Most Successful Term in History

Last Friday, the "4C" College closed its most successful year in the history of the institution. This school was established in the year 1886 and will open its 64th year of unbroken service with its Fall Term in its new building which is nearing completion.

The total number of students registered during the past year reached 445. Fully 85 per cent came from outside of Madison and 65 students enrolled from twelve other states. The largest daily attendance during the year was 312. Fully 90 per cent registered for both the bookkeeping and stenographic courses. A large number of these students, however, have only partially completed their course, and are again returning for further work.

The employment department of the school, which is conducted primarily for "4C" students, has had an overwhelming flood of calls for graduates to fill office positions and the records show that more than 200 different positions were filled during the year. More than a thousand calls were received for office help, from business establishments in Wisconsin and adjoining states.

During the year many student activities were in progress. The girls in the school organized among themselves clubs at the Y. W. C. A. and the Girls' Club. Gym classes, contests and socials were a weekly occurrence during the winter months. The young men of the school were organized into basketball teams which were held at the City Y. M. C. A. The students held numerous programs in connection with the regular lecture course. Twenty-one lectures were delivered by business and professional men.

Going into its new building Sept. 1, the "4C" College leaves its old building on the corner of West Main and Carroll streets, which it has occupied for just twenty years, having moved from the Ellsworth block on North Pinckney street in the summer of 1900.

FREE RADIUM FOR CANCER VICTIMS

NEW YORK—Free radium treatment for sufferers from cancer will be administered, beginning Oct. 15, by the state institution for the study of malignant diseases at Buffalo. The treatment has been made possible through a recent appropriation of $255,000 for the purchase of two and one quarter grams of the precious mineral.

"Any citizen of the United States will be treated free of charge," said Dr. Harvey R. Gayford, director of the institution, "but preference will be given to residents of New York state."

TRACTOR EXHIBIT PROGRAM IS OUT

11:30 a. m.—Luncheon.

Why Itch and Burn
With Skin Diseases?

There is a Way to Get Rid of the Torturous Suffering

Those who rely upon local treatment such as ointments, salves, lotions, washes, etc., which are applied to the surface of the skin, will never be free from agonizing skin diseases, because they are going about the treatment just backwards. They are treating the results of the disorder, and not the disease itself. They are attempting to boil water by applying the heat in the wrong place.

These terrifying skin irritations, eczema, tetter, boils, pimples, etc., have their origin in a disordered condition of the blood. They come from a colony of tiny germs which get into the blood and multiply by the millions.

Do not expect to be cured of any form of skin disease by the use of lotions, salves, ointments or other local treatment, as such remedies cannot possibly reach the source of the trouble, which is the blood.

When any of these symptoms appear on any part of your body you should take prompt steps to rid the blood of the germs which cause them. And the one remedy which has no equal as a blood cleanser is S. S. S., which is sold by druggists everywhere.

Begin taking S. S. S. today, and write a complete history of your case to our Chief Medical Adviser, who will give you special instructions without charge. Write at once to Medical Director, 613 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

JUDGE OF PROBATE COURT GIVES TANLAC STRONGEST PRAISE

After Long Struggle Judge M. F. Short Regains Health—Makes Public Statement in Hope of Benefiting Others.

It is seldom indeed that men of prominence, especially men who hold high office, willingly express their indebtedness to a proprietary medicine. However, when a medicine obtains that singular purity and efficiency shown by the uniform preparation, Tanlac, statements from our best citizens are to be considered thoroughly commensurate with the good that is being accomplished among the people of our Commonwealth.

Judge M. F. Short, of 1026 South Hickory St., Ottawa, Kan., who has held the honorable position of Probate Judge in Franklin county for two terms and has been true to every trust imposed in him, said in a recent statement concerning the great good he derived from the use of Tanlac:

"I have never used any medicine that went right to the spot like Tanlac did in my case. Nearly a year ago I had an attack of the flu, and was so weak after it that I couldn't walk even a short dis-of New York Military academy at Cornwall-on-the-Hudson and later was a student at West Point, sent there by the Cuban government.

TURKS ARE QUIET AT ADRIANOPLE

ATHENS—Adrianople is quiet at present, according to advices received here, Turkish and other elements being either stunned by the presence of Greek troops in the city or resigned to the fate that has come to them. Large numbers are said to be preparing to leave Adrianople. The Greeks are restoring civil administration.

Stomach is quick to upset—Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will bring prompt relief and comfort

THE depressing heat makes many women careless of their health. The housework becomes extra tiresome and the hot kitchen adds to their discomfort. They eat cold foods and cold drinks with the result that the stomach is soon upset, and constipation follows indigestion.

It is well to know that there is a remedy that brings quick relief. It is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and you can find it in any drug store. It is a combination of simple laxative herbs with a powerful stimulant that acts on the digestive organs. Take a spoonful of Syrup Pepsin at night and the constipation, headache and nervousness will be gone in the morning. You will then stand the heat with comfort.

There are thousands of women in this country who do not use anything else in case of emergencies but Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Miss Bart, of 1045 Washington St., Grand Rapids, Mich., writes: "I rely on Syrup Pepsin, and the person

BILLY WHISKERS

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

In the morning, bright and early Billy went back into the market garden and made a fine breakfast of beet and carrot tops, all sparkling with dew. He enjoyed this very much and would like to have stayed there until all the vegetables were eaten up, but he remembered how Mr. Klausen had whipped him for breaking into the turnip patch one time, and he thought it would not be safe to linger in this part of the country much longer, so he jumped the fence and started again on his travels.

A little dog was trotting down the road, and as soon as he saw Billy he began to bark. To ordinary people the barking would have sounded merely like a lot of howls, but in the animal language it said: "Where did you come from, you white tramp? You go right on back from here or I'll call the police."

Billy wasn't going to take that sort of talk from any dog big or little, so he gave one "bawh!" lowed his head, and started for that dog. The dog suddenly found out that he had very important business to look after, and he started up the road as hard as he could go, with Billy close after him. There was a dog that ran so hard and so gamely as that one, and the breath that he could spare from running he used in howling to the folks at home, knowing that he was always in. All at once he was very much indeed to get home in time for breakfast, and Billy was just as anxious to toss him over a fence before he got there. Up one hill and down another went the two, bawh!-spit, first a little white streak bent low in the dust, and then a bigger white streak coming along close behind in a whirling cloud. Billy soon they came in sight of a square farmhouse with a wide-spread roof, and then the little dog, his tongue hanging out, gave a extra wild howl and ran faster than ever. When they got to the house the dog turned in at the open door with Billy right at his heels. Billy went up the porch and around to the kitchen door, up the steps and into the kitchen, pell-mell, where he leaped under the table at which the O'berbipp family was having breakfast.

Billy did not know where he was, and did not very much care. He knew that he was chased by that dog and meant to catch him without looking, he followed the steps and under the table, and shrieking and howling never heard. Herr O'berbipp jumped up quickly that he upset his chair and in trying to catch the chair he upset himself turning a back somersault on the floor and landing in a heap of soap suds in which the clothes were soaking to be washed. Frau O'berbipp grabbed a loaf of bread in the cupboard and a sausage in the other, and never left off screaming until she was out of breath. Greta O'berbipp sprang up on her chair and shook her skirts as hard as she could, while she helped her mamma scream. Baby O'berbipp jumped up on the table at first, but the snarls and howls and "bawhs" from underneath excited his curiosity so much that he soon jumped down to the floor and looked under the table. Then he began to dance on one foot and yell.

AS A WOMAN THINKS

A MODERN KNIGHT.
By Edith E. Moriarty

JUST as it is annoying to meet the common, vulgar person in intelligent, cultured groups, so it is interesting to find the situation reversed. Joe is one of the few who make the tenements and alleyways tolerable. He is an Italian lad, but fifteen years old, whose home life has been of the worst variety. It was considered so demoralizing by the city authorities that he was once taken from his mother and put in a boys' detention home, and that only meant from the frying pan into the fire. Then because public funds and the great national institution of Red Tape became involved Joe was permitted after a few short months to return to his own tenement of three rooms over a store.

He started to work and soon was bringing a fair return for his labor, most of which was spent by his stepfather for red wine despite the eighteenth amendment. Joe wore a sunny smile and was a willing worker even though his money was usually squandered and he soon became a favorite with the employment director. The woman heard his story bit by bit and was always an interested listener and she also heard many of the lad's ambitious and desires. It was usually in the factory lunchroom that she gained his confidences.

One noon Joe was talking with a group of boys. The woman overheard their conversation which had to do with some of the factory girls who were trying to act like movie stars. The girls were pestering the boys with requests to take them to parties, movies and parks and the boys were not responding very readily. When Joe was alone the woman asked him if the girls had approached him, for she did not want him spoiled by some thoughtless girl. Yes, one girl had bothered him with requests several times, but he did not care to go with girls. The woman asked who the girl was.

"Why, miss," said the astonished Joe, "I couldn't tell yer. If it was a boy I'd tell, but I couldn't tell of a girl. Geo, she didn't mean nothing and she won't bother me no more. If it wasn't a girl I'd tell, really."

The woman flushed a bit and decided that Joe might teach some American men twice his age a few things about chivalry, courtesy and woman's place in the world.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a muddy complexion and a friend of mine said she thought it came from my drinking so much coffee. I have coffee three times a day and drink from two to three cups with each meal. Do you think I am doing myself any harm?

ANXIOUS TO DO RIGHT. Excessive use of coffee so affects the nerves and digestion that eruptions on the skin and bad color are often caused. If you would be content with one cup of coffee in the morning and none through the day you would notice a vast improvement in your complexion.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl only 19 years old, but, oh, so miserable I don't know what to do.

I have been going with a certain fellow, older than I am, and we are engaged. We got along just fine at first, but a certain girl who used to be my friend has been sending messages to my sweetheart and remarking that she would "bust us up" because she wanted him for herself. He called her up and she asked him to come down there, although she had never seen him. He went to see her a few minutes several times and was late coming to see me. I told him if he ever went to see her again he need not come to see me any more.

He knew I was jealous and he went anyway again. Mamma said he couldn't come to see me if he went to see her, and so we were angry for three weeks. He came down home then and found I wasn't angry any longer and so now he is coming back and wants me to marry him right away.

I don't want to now as he may not be true to me, but he says he will. He is all alone in the world and I love him well enough to live with him, I am sure.

My mother tells me she never thought about anything but getting married after she was 16. My father is dead, but he loved mamma until he died. She didn't love him, though. I think she is wanting to get married again but she knows if she does there will be a big fuss, as we all hate the man she likes.

Would you advise me to go ahead and get married? I really do love him and he has plenty of property and money which his father left him. He is a traveling salesman now, but to please me he is going to do something else so he can be home oftener.

TRUE LOVE.

Love should make you joyous instead of so miserable you don't know what to do. Don't let conditions at home hasten your marriage, because you should have time to be sure the marriage is for the best.

Tell your fiancé that you would like to wait until fall or Christmas time to get ready. Ask him to change his business now so that he will be established in another line of work before marriage.

He was not loyal to you when he went to see the other girl. If he continues to follow such a policy he will not make you happy. Do not make him promise to stay away from other women. Simply watch and if he shows a tendency to like their company as well as yours, you might just as well give up all thought of marrying him.

RECIPES FOR A DAY

Tuna Fish a la King—Make a white sauce as follows: Melt one and one-half tablespoons of butter; then blend with it the same amount of flour. Add one and one-half cups of milk, salt and pepper to taste, and cook until thick. Combine the tuna fish and the sauce. Make small baking powder biscuits, split them and lay on platter and pour over them the creamed tuna. This is a very palatable and wholesome dish.

Spring Salad—Take Cabbage through the food grinder, using the coarse blade. Mix the ground cabbage with vinegar, sugar, salt and a little cream, to taste. Arrange in mounds on salad plates and garnish with slices of hard-boiled eggs.

SEASONABLE PRESERVES

Peach Preserves—One peck of peeled peaches, three pints cider vinegar, one ounce cloves, three and one-half pounds of brown sugar, one-half ounce nutmeg, one ounce cinnamon. Peel the peaches and put them in a stone jar. Break up spices, scald and put them with the peaches. Boil sugar and vinegar together for ten minutes, cool, pack in sterilized jars and process.

Plums may be preserved by the same method as for peaches, but adding one pint less of vinegar.

Pear Preserves—One pound of pears, one cup sugar, three-quarters pound sugar. Pears may be preserved whole, in halves or quarters.

It would be better to leave home and work than to marry unfortunately. Look the situation squarely in the face and if you see you are making a mistake change your mind before it is too late.

Do not interfere with your mother's wishes in regard to her marriage. Opposition from you might strengthen her desire to marry the man. She is old enough to make her own decision anyway. If you choose wisely yourself you will have enough to occupy your mind.

Seckel pears are often preserved whole. If Kiefer pears are used they should be boiled in clear water after being pared until they can be easily pierced with a knitting needle. Then place them in the syrup, cook, cool, plump, pack process and seal the same as for all preserves.

WATER ICES

Ginger Water Ice—Open a small lot of preserved ginger. Drain ginger and put through food chopper. Place one and one-half cups of sugar and one and one-half cups of water in sauce pan. Boil ten minutes, then add three level tablespoons of gelatin which has been soaked in two-thirds cup of cold water. Stir to dissolve gelatin. Add the finely chopped ginger and syrup from ginger pot and free in usual manner.

When soft as snow remove the dasher and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Repack and stand for one and one-half hours to ripen. Use three measures of ice to one measure of salt for freezing and packing.

Appreciates the Many Opportunities Enjoyed While a Student at the "4C" College

OLIVE P. EDER

Wolff, Kubly & Hirsig Co.
MADISON, WISCONSIN

Mr. George E. Spohn, President, "4C" College of Commerce, Madison, Wisconsin.

Dear Mr. Spohn:

I wish to express to you my appreciation of the many privileges I enjoyed while a student at the "4C" College. All of your teachers took a personal interest in each student and supervised our work in such a way that everyone came to understand the things that had been difficult for him.

The practical advice which we received, especially relating to conduct in the business life into which we were about to go, was one of the most important things taught. Also our Friday morning talks were always helpful. For business is not always just the mere work we do, but means largely our application to our work, our attitude toward those about us and with whom we come in contact, and our loyalty to our employers.

The course in cultivating personality, as I look back, seems to me to have been one of the most interesting and practical things taught, as those going into business work will find that employers look upon a winning personality, including courtesy and a cheerful disposition, as being a large asset in the value of any employee.

I wish you continued success in your work as a school and look forward to the new "4C" Building.

Sincerely yours,
OLIVE P. EDER.

'4C' College Building and a Greater and More Efficient School

The management of the "4C" College of Commerce believes that few people fully realize the important service this school has been rendering during the past 63 years of unbroken service, in training more than 12,000 young people for Office Positions as Bookkeepers, Accountants and Stenographers, and placing them with the highest grade Business Establishments all over the Northwest. Our Employment Service Department, especially for the past five years, has been flooded with calls for our graduates, with records for the past year showing that more than 1000 calls came to this department for Office Help, which was over 500% greater than we were able to supply. Business men everywhere are demanding "4C" students, and the reason attributed for this demand may be found in the fact that our students receive the keenest preparation under the supervision of expert instructors who know how to develop maximum efficiency in every student.

Epoch Making Year Ahead

With unsurpassed facilities which the new "4C" building and its complete equipment will afford, nothing is being spared that foresight, enterprise or investment can supply, in rendering a service to our students that shall insure their success in the Business World, as well as protect the good name of the school wherever it is known. The "4C" believes in being PROGRESSIVE, it never copies from other schools, but prefers to set its own standards. Young men and women fired with a determination to climb high in the Business World will have an opportunity of pursuing a course of training at the "4C" this coming year which few schools, either public or private, have been able to offer heretofore.

Says "4C" College Training Enables One to Step Ahead of the Other Fellow

"4C" College of Commerce, Madison, Wisconsin.

Gentlemen: It is with great pleasure that I take this opportunity to express myself regarding the "4C" College. In my opinion, and one of the courses offered, is a sound investment, and in the Combined Course especially, opportunities are afforded that unfailingly lead to remunerative positions. Knowledge of business methods alone, as taught by the "4C", enable any one to step in ahead of the fellow who has "worked up from office boy."

From my experience, I believe that the best asset any young man or woman can have in contemplating a business career—is an efficient knowledge of shorthand and typewriting and bookkeeping and accounting. Personally I think there is no better stepping stone than the typewriter.

It is now just a year since I left the "4C" and took up work at the Brass Company. Have a very pleasant position, a monthly salary in three figures, and do not hesitate to say that I owe it all to the course of training received at the "4C". I should be glad to have any prospective student write me for a personal collaboration of these statements.

With best wishes for your continued success, I remain,
Yours very truly,
J. PRESTON HOCKING.

Tri-County League Games
Sunday Fail to Clinch Pen-

TRI-COUNTY RESULTS

Waterloo, 13; Madison, 2.
Cambridge, 2; Sun Prairie, 1.
Edgerton, 21; Middleton, 1 (five innings).

Mt. Horeb, 9; Lake Mills, 8.
Edgerton kept its slender chance for the Tri-County league pennant Sunday afternoon by overwhelmingly defeating the Middleton club, 21 to 1, in a five inning game. The Middleton team was completely routed and the members were so tired out from chasing long hits that they tossed up the sponge in the sixth inning.

Mr. Horeb, the league leader, won from Lake Mills in a tightly contested game, 9 to 8. The victory practically assures the team the Tri-County pennant. Edgerton's sole chance of tying for the league hinges on Mt. Horeb's being defeated twice in the two remaining games on the league schedule while Edgerton wins.

Cambridge climbed up into the first division by taking a fast 2 to 1 game from Sun Prairie. The Essers' Market nine of Madison, former occupants of fourth place, were shoved down to fifth by an overwhelming defeat administered to them by Waterloo. The Waterloo club entered on the long end of a 13 to 2 score after nine innings of loss baseball at Waterloo. The Madison team went to pieces completely and met their fifth straight defeat. The standings of the clubs:

The Cleveland Indians were defeated yesterday with their ace, Bagby, on the mound. The Washington Senators batted him out of the box and put over an 8 to 5 victory. Sam Rice, Washington center fielder, hit four hits, including a triple. He stole second base twice, and then to finish of the day, successfully pilfered home. Shays held the Indians safe all the way.
The defeat lowers the Indians to within four and one-half games of the White Sox, who are now but one and one-half games behind the slugging Yankees.

Eddie Cicotte Holds Ruth Hitless and Blanks Yanks; Giants Beat Reds in Ninth

Indians Lose to Washington Club; Robins Trim Cards;
Tigers Beaten by Boston

THE champion Chicago White Sox showed that they were champions again yesterday.

They defeated the mighty New York Yankees, 3 to 0. Eddie Cicotte did the pitching and he pitched one of the best games he ever did in his life. The Yankees were shut out without a score, and two of their five hits were infield scratches. The mighty Babe Ruth struck out the first time he faced Cicotte. On his next three trips to the plate he flied out to Jackson, walked, and grounded out to Risberg. Shawkey and Mogridge shared hurling honors for the Yankees. The Sox made 11 hits off them. Joe Jackson and Nap Felch hit the blows that scored the three Sox runs. 40,000 people saw the game.

The Cleveland Indians were defeated yesterday with their ace,
Bagby, on the mound. The Washington Senators batted him out of the box and put over an 8 to 5 victory. Sam Rice, Washington center fielder, hit four hits, including

The defeat lowers the Indians to the White Sox, who are now but one and one-half games behind the slugging Yankees.

The New York Giants can't be stopped. They have started on their annual fall drive for the pennant, and haven't lost a game in two weeks. Yesterday the Cincinnati Reds were their victims. The world's champions, with Luque pitching, and a 2 to 0 lead up to the last of the ninth, thought they had the game cinched, but the Mc-Graw clan rallied after two were out. Frisch and Young singled and Spencer singled, scoring Young and Kelly, and the Giants had won, 3 to 2.

The Brooklyn Robins increased their lead in the National league race by defeating the Cards, 6 to 1.
Grimes held St. Louis safe while the Dodger batters hit Schupp hard for six innings.

D. O'LEARY DEFEATS SON OF MAN HE BEAT NEARLY 60 YEARS AGO

Fifty-eight years ago Dan O'Leary started his career as champion pedestrian in Ireland by defeating Patrick Mahoney for a side bet of five pounds. According to O'Leary, five pounds in those days looked about as big as a small fortune.

On Sunday afternoon at Kenosha,
Dan defeated the son of Patrick Mahoney in a five mile walk for a side bet of $25. The younger Mahoney is 58 years of age, while Dan is past 79.

The contest was a close one and despite his being over 21 years older than his opponent, O'Leary came out the victor by about eight yards.

When Dan walked the elder Mahoney he was 21 years and 8 months old, while Mahoney was 24 years of age. That started O'Leary in his walking career and since that time he has walked in practically every country of the world and at his age still stands undefeated.

THE WILLIAMS PLATFORM

THE platform of Norton J. Williams, candidate for state senator for Dane county, has been issued.

Mr. Williams evidently feels that the people of Dane county have not yet passed the stage where the old time political blarney is sufficient for the purposes of a platform. He issues a platform in which he does not take a stand on a single issue before the people of this state and indulges in the usual word subterfuge of the man who is afraid to let the people know where he stands.

"I favor a strict business-like and economical administration"; "I favor legislation that will serve for the advancement and general welfare of the farmers and rural communities, the laboring people and the business men of Wisconsin." "I favor allowing the people to express their choice upon all important measures that directly affect the people."

These are all political platitudes to which every man will agree. The question is: HOW does Mr. Williams propose to do these things? Is he going to do it from the progressive standpoint or from the Carl Johnson-Magnus Swenson standpoint?

Mr. Williams will have to be more specific with the people of Dane county. The people of this county are progressive, and they cannot be fooled on any set of words that mean nothing.

OLE CASHING IN

OLE HANSON, an "Americanism" faker who is now cashing in on a lot of undeserved publicity received at the hands of the interests serving newspapers of the country, is now at the service of the millionaire lumber and paper mill manufacturers of the Fox and Wisconsin river valleys.

There is "Bolshevism" up in these sections of Wisconsin. Laborers who have long worked at long hours and short wages have been audacious enough to feel that they are entitled to a larger share of the millions that have been made by these northern Wisconsin employers during the war.

And so these profiteering employers have imported Ole, under the auspices of the Constitutional Defense league, to tour the Wisconsin and Fox river valleys. Ole, undoubtedly, will tell the wage earners what is coming to them if they don't behave.

Ole Hanson is today being exploited to the limit by the profiteers of this country. And Ole is hanging on while the going on is good. He ought to cash in while the going is good. He isn't a fellow that will wear long.

WHY?

LABOR, the publication of the railroad brotherhoods has the following to say on the railroad situation:

"It was fully two weeks ago that Senator Albert B. Cummins, fresh from an interview with the Republican candidate for president, told the Associated Press that the collapse of the transportation system of the nation was costing the people of this country more every day than the war with Germany cost them on any day of the great conflict.

"That was a strong statement and it was made by a man who surely understood what he was talking about.

"Despite its sensational character and the standing of the man who made it, the press of the country has been strangely silent concerning it.

"The Associated Press carried it to all the leading papers, but not one, so far as we have been able to discover, saw fit to display it under 'secure heads' on the first page.

"These same papers, a few months ago, found it difficult to find type large enough to tell of the deficits of federal control. How small those deficits seem now by comparison with the stupendous losses imposed on every line of industrial enterprise by private operation of the roads!

"The deficits of one year of private ownership will be greater than the deficit of two years of federal control," said Interstate Commerce Commissioner Woolley, and he was thinking only of the losses which would have to be paid out of the treasury of the United States.

"The papers treated Woolley's statement very much as they did Cummins' statement—printed it in an obscure position and then forgot about it. Why?"

A DIFFERENT CASE

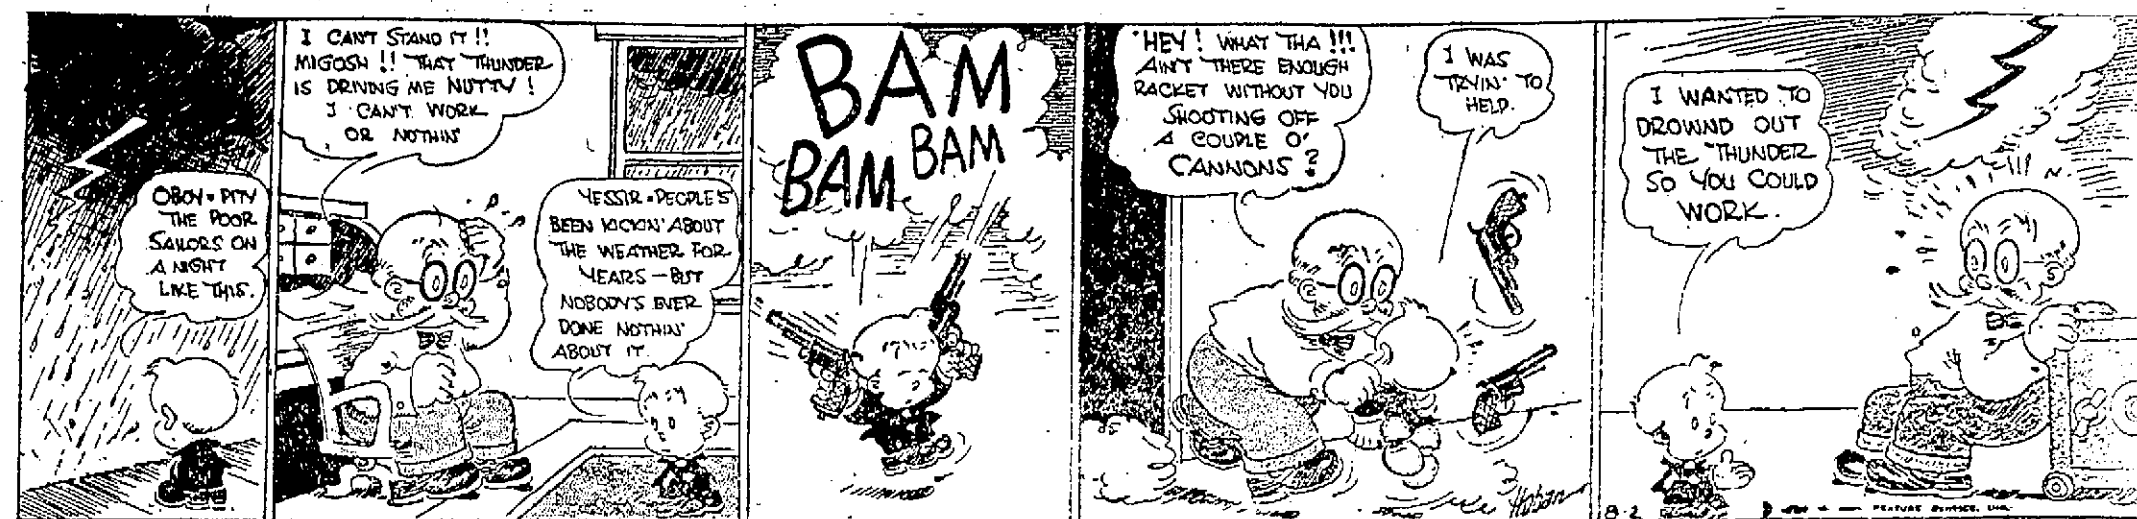

WILL we hear anything now about the "rights of the public" when this $1,500,000 raid under the Esch-Cummins bill is to be made upon the American public? Will the parrot press of the country open the sob stops now and pour out the doleful prospects of cold homes and starving children?

No—the rights of the public only become a matter of concern when the common man goes out to get justice for himself.

"FOREIGNERS"

INTERESTING news to hundreds of people in Dane county in the makeup of the crew that sailed the yacht Resolute which defended the cup against Tom Lipton. The crew was composed of 22 Norwegians, 7 Swedes and one Dane. That information ought to be given to some of our professional agitators against "undesirable foreigners."

AT THE THEATERS

At the Grand—With three women claiming him as their husband, with two irate fathers-in-law on his trail and a jealous former husband of one of the "wives" waiting to shoot him up, Matt Moore as Joe Benson in "Don't Ever Marry," Marshall Neilan's newest picture, at the Grand, finds himself in the throes of a matrimonial earthquake. It is not slapstick comedy, but a logical story with comedy situations that keep the youthful hero, who is trying to get away on a honeymoon with one girl, in a state of hot water.

At the Strand—Dorothy Gish in a lively screen farce, "Remodeling Her Husband," will be the attraction at the Strand theater today and tomorrow for the last times. The star has the role of a vivacious young girl who marries a fire with the idea of reforming him. As added attractions, Major Allen's "Tiger Hunt," Bray Pictograph and a comedy cartoon will also be shown.

At the Fuller—Alaska is a country which offers a never-ending source of fertility to the imagination of Rex Beach. In "The Girl From Outside," his latest Goldwyn picture, which is now showing at the Fuller this week, he never overlaps on any of his previous northern themes. The story of a girl who, orphaned on her way to Nome, Alaska, finds herself set down there in a time when riot and vice ran rampant, is a powerful presentation of life in the wild and woolly north of Klondike days.

APPEAL DECISION
 ASHLAND—The city council has voted to appeal from the decision of the state tax commission which recently decided that the value of terminal railroad property should be included in the city valuation. The effect of the tax commission valuation is to force Superior, Ashland, Washburn and Lake Michigan ports in Wisconsin to indirectly share with the county the tax received from railroad terminal docks. In the case of Ashland, out of $70,000 received from the railroads in taxes, $12,000 goes back to the county.

RESTRICT SPRINKLING
 EAU CLAIRE—With the pull on the city water supply growing daily as a result of the severe drought here and the drought in turn reducing the level of the water in the city wells, the city water department was faced with such a serious situation that it had to restrict lawn sprinkling to one hour in the evening, and if this does not relieve the situation lawn sprinkling will be forbidden altogether. Never in the past has a drought affected the wells of the water works plant in this city. Corn and potatoes are suffering from the continued lack of rain.

ONE WAY TO WIN
 MANITOWOC—The Manitowoc Lake Shore league baseball team has evolved a way to win a game, Manager Wachowitz thinks. He has scheduled a game with the amateur team of Reedsville, a village in this county.

Voice of the People

THE WOOL SITUATION
 To the Editor of The Capital Times: Since the 20th of May the wool market of the country has come to an abrupt standstill. The cause of the interruption in the wool industry has been claimed to be due to the attitude on the part of the consumer who has stopped paying exorbitant prices for clothes. Suits of clothes that formerly ranged from $25 to $35 and have recently sold up to $100 are now being offered for sale on the markets of the country at considerably reduced prices. In these $100 suits it would be interesting to know how much of the $100 goes to the farmer.

According to the best figures obtainable from the government, the farmer receives for wool in the average suit of clothes about from $5 to $7. During the years 1910 to 1914 the price of sixteen-ounce clay worsted cloth ranged from about $1.25 to $1.50 per yard. At that time the farmer's price for wool of the clothing grades ranged all the way from 20c to 30c a pound. In March, 1920, the farmer received on the average of about 62c and the price of this same cloth was nearly $5.50 a yard—an appreciation of about 300 per cent. The claim that the farmer's price of wool has been an important factor in the high price of clothing can easily be refuted as the figures given by the federal government clearly demonstrate that there is somebody between the farmer and the consumer who is making enormous profits. A glance at the profits of the American Woolen Mills and similar concerns would locate some of the uncalculated profits.

It has been stated that dealers in Boston are offering from 10c to 20c a pound advance on wool which two months ago sold as high as 73c to 75c a pound. According to government figures there are no large stocks of wool in the world. With these facts at hand there is not a bit of doubt but that there is an absolute intention on the part of the wool speculators to knock the bottom out of the wool market so that it can be bought at a low price and resold at double or treble the price paid the grower. When the wool growers of the United States have had enough of the speculators' dealings they will join together into a large national organization whose main purpose will be the marketing of the wool clip of the country and the consuming public will be better protected if the farmers of the country could set a price on their product, figuring in the cost of production, than they do now when both farmers and consumers are at the mercy of the speculator.

Let the time soon come when the farmers of this country will get into a position whereby they can have something to say concerning the price at which their products sell!

FROM MR. WHEELER
 To the Editor of The Capital Times: "A house divided against itself cannot stand."

In one column of a paper we read that Mr. Gompers sees the wickedness of employers who are laying off many hands, thus lessening production, and causing hardship all around.

In another column we read of a general walkout of various union men, to show sympathy for strikers whose employers are compelled to do their own painting, in order to fill contracts! Does this harmonize with the ideas of Mr. Gompers?

Farmers are urged to form a union and co-operate with labor. Were they thus organized, whenever some other union was on a strike, of course they would be expected to quit hoeing corn and milking cows until the other union won out. Unions are sacred things. To an ultimate consumer it makes little difference whether a profiteer in labor, or a profiteer in commerce enhances the cost of necessities. And every man who walked out in sympathy with the painters would complain about high rents! Each one of us is a part of the whole. But at present we are clanking at one another, while we need to be getting together.

Ignorant and designing men are continually rubbing our ears, and "sicking" us on to some fancied enemy, and usually our attention is directed by them to somebody who has something we want! Every day lost by a laboring man at this season is a calamity, whether he is discharged, laid-off, or on a sympathetic strike. (I agree, with Mr. Gompers on that point.) It concerns the nation as well as the individual. Divided we fall. The recent sympathetic walkout suggests (to a man up a telegraph pole)

On The Side

A LITTLE SLICE OF LIFE
 We dislike to promulgate Or publish in any way The doing in our own home. But occasionally something Happens which should Be passed along in order To help the Ancient And Honorable Order of Husbands. The other day we were Mooning around our workroom Trying to think of something To write about when there came A caller, who proved to be A reformer with a book to sell— A book on domestic felicity. And how to obtain it How to handle husbands And make them behave. "Surely you need this book," Said the reformer. "Every wife Needs a copy of it in the home."

What may occur when farm labor organizes.

Mr. Spoofendyke has a dairy farm. He furnishes milk for the laborers' families in the city. The men he hired for the season quit their job because he would not let them use his auto for joy riding. Mr. S. milks his own cows, of course. But in order to show sympathy with the men of "The Milkmen's union," all union labor in the city takes a lay-off. A scarcity of milk raises prices and the striking laborers cry "Profiteering!"

In a less direct way, but just as surely the entire community, and the nation must suffer from this enforced idleness and the jealousy which divides us.

The American Indians merely played tribal war as compared with the multitude of "tribes" of white men now trying to scalp their fellow citizens!

The labor unions are a damage to the laborer and to the nation when they prevent or curtail production. Quite as serious a menace in fact as a great corporation which does the same thing.

It sometimes looks very much as though labor unions are carrying a chip on their shoulders most of the time. But the sympathy chip is the limit!

The employer, our agreement, its effect upon the public; all these "be d—d!"

Here's an excuse to strike. Let's go!

That's the way it looks to Windsor, Wis.

Then came the well known voice Of the lady of the house, who said: "I don't want to reform my husband. I have no time to make him over. I can't fool away a lot of years Trying to make him better. It takes every minute of my time To keep him from getting worse. Than he is now. Good day."
